

ABSTRACT

A system for auctioning, canceling and reissuing a ticket having an auction server in communication with an auction engine which in turn communicates with a barcode canceler/issuer for issuing a new ticket. The system also includes an auction database in communication with the auction engine. The auction database is capable of receiving and transmitting ticket information to the auction engine and ultimately back to a venue system for canceling and issuing a new ticket.

C:\154\TRT\MYVT\P100US\Patentfinal.doc